CHRISTMAS TITLE 2026

Take a trip through the retro years in Australia between the 1950s and the 1970s and how we used to holiday during our summer season with over 500 images showcasing our holidays travelling away, or if the budget could not afford it, holidaying at home.

We wanted for very little back in those days, riding our bikes, swimming at the local pool, and simple meals at the picnic table at the caravan park or on a beach towel watching the waves. We made ends meet on very little money and enjoyed our carefree time from sunup to sundown enjoying our summer holidays.

Retro Women captures the transformative decades from the 1950s to the 1970s. A tribute and celebration of women from the elegance and grace of the 1950s housewife with delightful charms and elegant fashion styles to questioning their independence of the 1960s, to breaking down barriers in the 1970s.

In this book it looks back through those transformative decades and how women during each era changed and evolved with more self-expression. They questioned their choices against traditions of society and what was expected of women and their role in the home, the workplace and relationships, to embrace their freedom.

Retro Women is a journey through these decades showcasing how women forged their paths with confidence and grace for future generations.

 Updated 2026

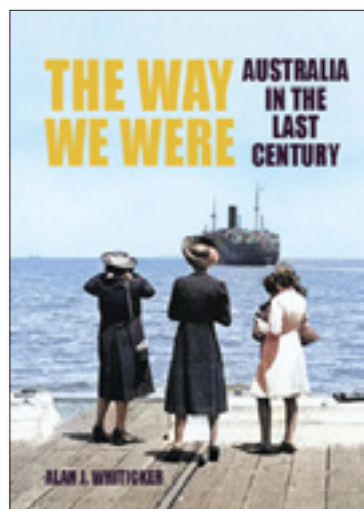

All the events in this book changed Australia and have made it what it is today.

Events that Shaped Australia sets out the details, the people, the images and the after effects of the most important turning points in our nation's history.

It starts with Gondwanaland, the Aborigines and the First Fleet and goes through to the Gold Rush, Federation, Gallipoli and the first Holden car. It also includes recent events such as the apology to the Stolen Generation, the discovery of the wreck of HMAS Sydney and the Black Saturday bushfires in Victoria.

This updated edition of Events that Shaped Australia features full-colour and historical black and white photographs, maps, documents and illustrations, all brought to life by well-researched and accessible narratives.

Aboriginal rock art, as practised in Arnhem Land, is the world's longest continuing art tradition. It is a tradition that is not merely decorative, but provides a "journey in time" – a pictorial record of the longest surviving culture on earth. Occurring at thousands of different sites and of many different styles, the rock paintings of this region date from at least 30,000 years ago and some may have been in place as early as 50,000 years ago.

BESTSELLER – 2026 UPDATED EDITION

The book contains comprehensive information about Australian tadpoles, eggs, metamorphosed frogs and adult frogs, accompanied by numerous colour photographs. It has been described as "the most comprehensive and thorough treatment of a continental frog fauna that there has ever been". Using meticulous keys, descriptive characters and a multitude of illustrations, the book helps readers to identify which tadpole or egg belongs to which frog, largely through the vast number of photos of live frogs, tadpoles and eggs at various life stages.

This magnificent and unique volume is a worthy addition to the library of any naturalist, student or professional with a keen interest in identifying our frogs and learning more about their fascinating life histories. Tadpoles and Frogs of Australia will serve as an invaluable and fundamental tool by contributing greatly towards our understanding of how we can help Australian frogs to survive.

Australia has thousands of plant species that can be classed as shrubs – often also called bushes – and the majority are endemic to the continent. Shrubs, as simply defined, are perennial plants with woody stems that last many years.

The ultimate keep-in-your-pocket guide to the subject, this book may be diminutive in size but it punches well above its weight in terms of usefulness, being packed with more than 300 images. It covers 212 species of native shrubs in 103 genera and 34 families, offering a useful cross-section of the huge number and variety of Australian native shrubs and includes species from various parts of the continent and over a wide range of habitats.

Crocodiles come in a variety of size, shape, habits, and even habitats, from the infamous saltwater crocodiles that occasionally near 6 metres in length, to the diminutive 1.5 metre dwarf caimans from South America's tropics. Crocodiles of the World explores all the facts and figures surrounding the ancestry of this intriguing family of reptiles, dispelling myths, and exploring their extensive evolution on the 230 million years that they have lived on this planet.

With fantastic photography encapsulating the diversity of these creatures, this book covers their evolutionary history, their biology and ecology and the diversity of the species.

Rick Shine is a professional scientist, currently employed as a Professor at Macquarie University in Sydney, Australia. For nearly 50 years his primary research interest has been reptiles – especially snakes – in many parts of the world. He has published over 1,000 scientific papers and his work has been cited more than 76,000 times – many more than any other researcher on reptiles past or present. His work has won many awards, including the two top awards for scientific research in Australia: NSW Scientist of the Year and Prime Minister’s Prize for Science.

NATIVE PLANTS OF NORTHERN AUSTRALIA NEW EDITION

by John Brock with Ian Morris and William Burgess

ISBN: 9781760796945

Format: Paperback

Pages: 384

Retail AUD: $59.99

Retail NZD: $65.00

This reimagined, fully transformed new edition of Native Plants of Northern Australia is now illustrated with more than 1,000 sparkling new photos throughout. It also includes 90 additional plants, bringing the comprehensive coverage to 530 native species of the region.

All descriptions include details of plant usage by Aboriginal people, revealing a wealth of traditional knowledge and connection with their environment.

Each species is individually presented with photos, extensive descriptive information and distribution maps. A new feature – the Table of Plant Attributes – presents the full species list, comprising distinctive features, key guidelines for cultivation and magnets for birds, bees and wildlife, as well as edible fruits.

The plants of this region come from arid areas, sandstone country, lush monsoon forest, wetlands and mangroves in a broad geographical region from the Joseph Bonaparte Gulf to the Gulf of Carpentaria and including such unique features as Kakadu National Park, Katherine Gorge and Arnhem Land with its spectacular plateau.

Nearly 40 years since it was originally published, the stunning new edition of this classic book remains an enduring reference for every gardener, plant enthusiast, botany student and nature lover.

About the Author:

John Brock was born in Adelaide in 1951 and came to Darwin in 1978. He was employed with the Conservation Commission of the Northern Territory until 1990 and his travels throughout the Top End have given him extensive knowledge of the local flora.

He currently lives in Darwin and works as a writer, researcher and botanical consultant.

Grow Your Own Bushfoods is the first-ever comprehensive and practical guide to growing and harvesting more than 140 kinds of Australian bushfoods right in your own backyard. Detailed plant profiles describe ideal growing conditions and characteristics of each species. In addition there are suggestions on the best ways to prepare and eat your bushfoods. Use them as flavourings in jams, muffins or sauces, or make your own bush teas and sweet drinks. A bushfoods directory is also included which lists suppliers of catalogues, seeds and seedlings as well as native plant gardens open for inspection.

Written with an emphasis on using natural growing methods, Grow Your Own Bushfoods enable everyone to enjoy Australian bushfoods while at the same time preserving our endangered plant species.

STAY FROM FLIGHT NURSE TO PATIENT

by Koko Casey

ISBN: 9781760798536

Format: Paperback

Pages: 248

Retail AUD: $32.99

Retail NZD: $35.00

STAY is a raw, unflinching memoir and a story of resilience and growth.

Sitting in complete silence in the backseat of a private jet with a life vest on waiting for your fate to be decided is something most people will never experience.

Koko Casey was a trained International Flight Nurse, retrieving critically ill patients from all over the world and had flown many missions. Aviation and Critical Care Nursing was her passion. On the night of the 18th of November 2009, she flew her last mission, a mission she wasn't suppose to be on but filled the spot at the last minute to help bring back a sick patient.

The medical jet left Samoa under perfect weather conditions with six people on board, but a storm was brewing ahead as the sky became dark. Something was wrong.

This is her story, reclaiming her life after that fateful night and the rescue to save all six people on board the plane. The depths of despair of living in a dark post-trauma limbo and how she climbed out of the vortex of doom to be a survivor today. She thought that fighting for her life in the ocean was tough, but it was nothing compared to the long, drawn-out fight for survival back home on land.

Koko now works as a motivational speaker and researcher. She has found her passion again, helping others. She now shares what she has learned with the sole desire to reach people caught in the despair of post-trauma.

She shares her story of how she found the strength to keep on keeping on to STAY.

Crossroads offers a profound insight into the personal journeys of some of Australia's vibrant personalities who have encountered hardship, adversity and often, incarceration.

In this book, these men recount their own narratives, spanning from their childhood through to their pivotal crossroads. Regardless of the choices they made – right or wrong – their experiences are undeniably captivating, providing a glimpse into a world that many may never fully comprehend.

The stories reveal painful childhood experiences that led some to a life of crime and others came from privileged backgrounds, yet a single opportunity or decision made altered the course of their lives.

BEHIND THE CONSPIRACY TRUE LIFE CASES INVOLVING CRIMES, MYSTERIOUS DEATHS AND DISAPPEARANCES

by Dr William J. Allender

ISBN: 9781760798390

Format: Paperback

Pages: 196

Retail AUD: $29.99

Retail NZD: $35.00

In this book, a selection of twenty-eight true life case stories involving unsolved crimes, mysterious deaths and dastardly deeds, curious disappearances of people and events that never seemed to be truly 'solved' are presented.

Also, included are some other stories which had an element of conspiracy of which the author had some involvement as an expert witness for example, "Misty River Mystery: Deaths of Dr Bogle and Mrs. Chandler"; "A Dog and a Dame in a Ditch: Who Murdered Maureen McLaughlin?" and "The Body in the Bay: Who Killed Katrina Ploy?"

History has repeatedly shown that political and corporate identities have conspired against public interests.

Conspiracy theories can play an important role in bringing their nefarious deeds to the light – and hopefully, in some cases, to justice and/or closure.

The story of the Bandidos Motorcycle Club.

The journey of the Bandidos Motorcycle Club, penned by their National Presidente, Tony Vartiainen of Australasia, is a look at how the club started through to the future of the club.

It begins with the club's inception, featuring original members from over 40 years sharing their firsthand experiences of how the club was formed. The story progresses to the tragic day at Milperra, which resulted in the deaths of seven individuals and led to one of Australia's longest-running trials. It discusses how the members were dealing with the trial and the tragic death of the President Snotty in Parklea gaol.

With rare photographs of the club and its members, this book details how the organisation endured its early challenges, particularly during the trials following Milperra. It illustrates their resilience as they rebuilt the club, persevering through adversity – from murdered presidents to attacks on their clubhouses. Today, they continue to fight for their right to ride together, maintaining an unbroken brotherhood founded on love, loyalty and respect.

Everything written in this book is authorised by the club and its Presidente Tony Vartiainen.

Retail NZD: $65.00

The sixties saw the beginnings of Australia's power wars with the likes of the Ford Falcon GT sedan, Holden Monaro GTS coupe, and the Chrysler Pacer sedan. The big story in Australia in the sixties was the emergence of the compact class of car epitomised by the Holden Torana that evolved out of the dull Vauxhall Viva. By 1968 it had been developed by Australian engineers into a compact six-cylinder car that opened a new market segment missed by its rivals; Ford entered the small car market with a dual attack. It was also in the Sixties when the Japanese manufacturers really established a foothold in Australia.

On Wednesday 12 April 2017, 22-year-old Cassandra Sainsbury, a personal trainer from Adelaide, South Australia was arrested at El Dorado International Airport in Bogotá, Columbia. In her luggage she had been carrying 5.8 kilograms of cocaine. She was looking at up to 30 years incarceration for drug trafficking.

It was to be the beginning of a harrowing ordeal of survival in El Buen Pastor – one of the world's most notorious prisons and the setting of a tale of violence and abuse as a young woman struggled to make sense of the madness all around her. At the centre of an international media circus, the woman who the world would come to know as "Cocaine Cassie" survived beatings, stabbings and rape while her story played out in public, distorted by lies and exaggerations that played out over years. Now, in her own words, Cocaine Cassie sets the record straight in this raw and harrowing account of what it was really like.

Bruised, battered and scarred she tells of how she was forced into becoming a drug mule. It is a story of pain and loss of hope for a future. But it is also a story of her rise to forgiveness and redemption – to creating a life where a woman's past does not define her future.

I am not 'Cocaine Cassie'. I am Cassie Sainsbury.

by Nigel Allsopp

ISBN: 9781760793456

Format: Paperback

Pages: 112

AUD RRP: $16.99

NZD RRP: $19.99

In March 1944, deep in the New Guinean jungle, a little Yorkshire Terrier was found hiding in a foxhole. Her presence there was a mystery, but American soldier Bill Wynne became her new owner. He named her Smoky, never dreaming that his little mate would turn out to be quite so extraordinary. When he fell ill with dengue fever, Bill asked to have Smoky by his side and she was soon visiting other soldiers on the ward, bringing happiness to the sick and wounded. This experience inspired Bill to visit injured soldiers with Smoky while on leave in Australia and she is recognised today as the first therapy dog of record.

She performed other daring deeds as part of her war effort, including laying wire to take over a Japanese-held airfield and went on to become a beloved performer on children's television.

In Smoky the War Dog, historian and former military dog handler Nigel Allsopp tells the story of Smoky and Bill, long forgotten in Australia and chronicles his own efforts to see Smoky formally recognised for her war work. He interweaves Smoky's story with remarkable tales of other military dogs, past and present and the vital roles they play in wartime.

by Peter Haran

ISBN: 9781864366051

Format: Paperback

Pages: 212

Retail AUD: $29.99

Retail NZD: $35.00

Trackers is a gritty and moving story that reveals the Australian Army's little known use of combat tracker dogs during the Vietnam War. A war veteran tells his story with vivid and compelling immediacy, blending the terror of hunting and encountering the elusive Vietcong with the tender relationship between a naive young Australian soldier and his larrikin labrador-kelpie cross, Caesar.

Tale of courage, terror, madness and survival.

In October 1966, 28 soldiers were chosen to form Australia's first specialist Reconnaissance Platoon in the Vietnam War. One of this platoon's section commanders was a 20-year old regular soldier called Bob Kearney, who led a series of deadly patrols, operating in isolation and extreme danger ahead of the main Australian forces. This is the story of Bob and his unit's tale of courage, terror, madness and survival, told by fellow Vietnam veteran Peter Haran, best-selling author of Trackers, and Robert Kearney.

Food has a powerful role to play in how we feel – but when it comes to hormones, many women are left navigating conflicting advice, fads and quick fixes.

The Hormone Cookbook is a calm, practical guide to eating in a way that supports hormonal health, energy and digestion, using simple meals you'll actually want to cook.

Written by clinical nutritionist and former chef Emma Ellice-Flint, these are everyday recipes that nourish you through monthly cycles, perimenopause and menopause – without restriction, extremes or complicated rules.

If you want to feel steadier, brighter and more at home in your body, you'll find clear guidance, achievable recipes and the reassurance that caring for your hormones can start with the food you eat every day.

Emma Ellice-Flint is an experienced qualified nutritionist, nutritional therapist and former chef. She seeks to combine science, research and the deliciousness of food together to help women, especially in midlife.

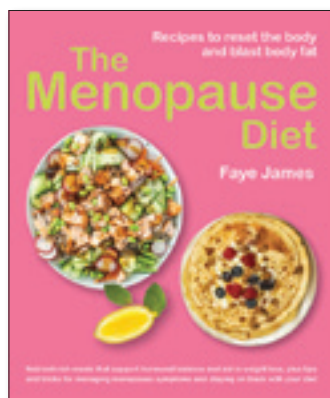

Emma is the author of five books, and a speaker on menopause and hormones-related to food and conducts regular workshops for women.

Her book covers improving health, energy in perimenopause and post-menopause.

Emma is well respected in her field and amongst her colleagues in the menopause industry.

This book is for the woman who want clarity.

We have an innate fascination with the world of hunters, parasites and nasty critters lurking to inflict themselves upon us. Bloodsuckers highlights a subject that both fascinates and horrifies readers, approaching it in an informative and entertaining way.

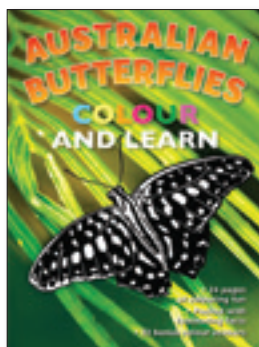

From leeches and mosquitoes to vampire bats and lampreys (bloodsucking fish), it's all here. This remarkable book will resonate strongly with all those who have a fascination with the dangerous, the grotesque and the plain icky

Deep in the heart of the forest stood the mighty Elder Tree, a sanctuary for creatures great and small.

But when disaster strikes and the ancient tree is lost, two red-tailed black cockatoos, Marlin and Banksi, must embark on a desperate search for a new place to call home.

This heart-warming and entertaining children's story highlights the challenges of habitat loss and its impact on native wildlife, while showcasing the conservation efforts aimed at restoring threatened species populations.

A touching tale of resilience, adaptation, and the bonds between wildlife and humans, The Last Hollow inspires children to cherish and protect the natural world.

Come on an adventure with Missy and Beefy.

Missy is an Australian bull terrier, her little brother Beefy is an Australian bulldog, and their dad Chris is a tradie. Missy and Beefy love to visit worksites with their dad and find out about all the different jobs that tradies do. But Beefy is so excited to meet the tradies that he keeps getting in the way and making a mess!

Be among the first to join Missy and Beefy on an adventure full of mischief and trouble in My Dad's A Tradie.
